To Our Valued Distributors, Industry Trade Associations and Citrus Growers

Subject: Misrepresentations Concerning the Quality and Characteristics of Rectify™

As a Florida-based company, AgroSource is keenly aware of the impact HLB has had on Florida citrus growers and the entire Florida citrus industry, an impact compounded by multi-year adverse weather events. Based on our 25 years of experience in developing, formulating, registering, and marketing oxytetracycline hydrochloride ("OTC-HCl") -based formulations for use in crop agriculture, AgroSource launched Rectify™ into the Florida citrus market in early 2023.

Since then, Rectify™ has been successfully delivered to millions of citrus trees throughout Florida, trees that have faced tremendous challenges from multiple hurricanes, freezes, and unrelenting pressure from HLB since 2005. Yet despite all that has happened, early indications are that Rectify™ injections show promise to improve tree health, increase yields, reduce drop, and improve fruit quality.

Recently, a competitor company has made public statements alleging Rectify™ is not made using pharmaceutical-grade OTC-HCl. This is patently false. All AgroSource products – Rectify™, FireLine™, and FireWall™, always have been, and always will be, formulated using analytically certified, pharmaceutical-grade active ingredients meeting all Pharmacopeia standards for purity and product quality. The measure of our products is the feedback we get from growers. Again, our focus is improved tree health, increased yields, reduced drop, and improved fruit quality, along with anything else that is truly important to the growers, processors and packers.

While AgroSource is no stranger to competition in the marketplace, we have always tried to maintain professional respect toward our competitors. We provide the highest quality products to our customers and back them up with sound technical service and support. AgroSource greatly appreciates and therefore places great value in the trust and confidence you, the Florida citrus industry, have shown us this past year – a year we hope marks a turning point for the entire industry. We will do everything in our power to continue earning your trust and respect.
